I. Reuben to Show Paintings In Gallery at Library Here

by Eileen Peterson

Paintings by Greenbelter Isidore Reuben will be on display at the Greenbelt Library through the month of June, with the public invited to attend the opening reception on Sunday, June 2, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Over two dozen paintings will be shown. Except for four owned by the artist, works will be loaned by friends and fans who have purchased art from him over the years. He began painting in the mid 1940s, is primarily self-taught, and has painted oils, acrylics, and made drawings with black pen and crayons. He has also set his hand to sculpturing in wood, metal and stone.

Born in 1918, Reuben grew up in New York City, where he met and married his wife, Mollie. Though he moved to Greenbelt in 1942, finding here "no better city in the world in which to live and raise a family." Reuben showed his art in various New York shows as early as 1949. The New York Times of that year notes of the Village Art Center that "in its large and lively exhibition... particularly admirable work is shown by... Isidore Reuben." In another Times review in 1951, of a one-man show at the Mortimer Levitt Gallery, his engaging paintings" were described as having "the look of samplers, for there is a certain naivete behind their stiff, polka-dot patterns and in their precise encrusted pigment." The review said that "the unusual color harmonies are arranged with genuine originality."

In Washington, D.C., Reuben has shown works at the Franz Bader Gallery and at the Trans Lux Theater, where he had his first solo show in 1950. In 1962 his works appeared with those

by Leta Mach

Traditionally, the City of Greenbelt throws a big party during the first weekend of June to mark the anniversary of the incorporation of Greenbelt as a municipality. On June 1, 1937 the town charter enacted by the Maryland State Legislature went into effect, providing for the first council-manager type of government in Maryland's history. By the time the law was a year old and the first Charter Day had come, Greenbelt had 610 families and 2,300 people. In 1990, there were about 19,458 residents in 9,455 housing units.

The celebration of the 54th anniversary of Greenbelt's incorporation on June 2 is too big for just one event. The entire weekend of June 1 and 2 will be celebrated with a range of recreational activities for all ages. (See Schedule on page 12.)

Weekend highlights include a Community Sock Hop, the 8th annual Arts and Crafts Fair, Moonlight Jazz Concert, Ride-A-Bike for Retarded Citizens, Greenbelt Day Volksmarch, American Legion Festival, and the Greenbelt Day Ceremony and Concert. Sports activities include softball, baseball, t-ball, tennis and much more.

The anniversary weekend will kick off Friday evening, May 31 at 8 p.m., with the Happy Day's Community Sock Hop at the Youth Center Gym. A D.J. will play music from the '30's, '40's, and '50's up to the present. The dance will feature contests and door prizes. Refreshments will be sold by the Greenbelt Lions Club.

As is traditional, the Roosevelt

Center Mall will be the scene for the Arts and Crafts Fair on Saturday, June 1 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Local crafters will display their talents and works. Featured crafts include quilting, woodcarving, stained glass, pottery, basket weaving and other handicrafts. The fair is sponsored by the Visual Arts Coalition. In the event of rain, the program will be cancelled.

Open House

There will be an open house at the Tugwell Room in the Greenbelt Library on Saturday, June 1 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Tugwell Room's reference collection includes pictures, maps, newspaper clippings, programs, letters and other memorabilia having historical significance to the city, Greenbelt "new towns,"

Legion Celebrates Greenbelt Day

In conjunction with Greenbelt Day weekend, the Greenbelt American Legion Family will sponsor a carnival and dance on June 2 at the American Legion Post Home, 6900 Greenbelt Road. Festivities on the lawn will be from 1-6 p.m. They will include performances by Miss Maryland, Kimberly Grimm, and country music sensation Cindy Astlin-Aud. Other activities are games for youngsters and adults, a petting farm, a dunk tank, and a football toss. (Guest appearances are expected by Maryland Terrapins quarterbacks.) Inside the Post Home will be a bake sale and bingo.

A USO style "Canteen Dance" will take place that evening from 7-11 p.m. Coffee and doughnuts are included in the small admission price.

All proceeds will benefit the USO and all events are open to the public. For further information please call 345-0136.

Spraying Mosquitos

Beginning in June, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will start its mosquito control program in Greenbelt. Spraying malathion will be done only if a request is received and the Department of Agriculture determines the area requested should be sprayed.

The city's Public Works Department, 474-8004, will take citizen's requests for mosquito spraying and pass them along to the Department of Agriculture. When making a request for mosquito spraying it is important to specify the time of day the mosquitos are the worst and describe the exact location of the problem area. Spraying will be done only once a week. If no requests are received prior to our treatment day, no areas will be sprayed.

Mosquitos breed in any water-holding container, including bird baths, wading pools, pet watering dishes, tin cans, old tires, clogged gutters or flower pots. To prevent mosquito breeding in these areas, water should be changed weekly, gutters cleaned out and other water holding containers should be disposed of or stored upside down.

consumer cooperatives, community planning and more.

Moonlight Concert

Saturday's events will conclude with a Moonlight Jazz Concert by the Buck Hill Quartet at the Greenbelt Municipal Pool. Open to the entire family, the event is free and refreshments will be sold. The pool will not be open for swimming. The concert by the Buck Hill Quartet is sponsored by the Greenbelt Arts Center in cooperation with the Department of Recreation. (See separate review of the Buck Hill Quartet.)

Greenbelters can get an early start on their exercise Sunday morning at 9 a.m. with the Green-See GREENBELT DAY, page 3

Council Recognizes Labukas; Listens to Citizen Concerns

by S. R. Cherry

The May 13 regular city council meeting dealt with the "Ride-A-Bike for the Retarded" program, the displaced homemaker program, and concerns of citizens at Windsor Green. City Manager James K. Giese did not attend since he was called out of town.

Ride-A-Bike

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld presented a proclamation recognizing Eileen Labukas's work in the Ride-A-Bike for the Retarded Program. Margie Deakman accepted on behalf of Labukas, who was unable to attend. June 2 was proclaimed as Eileen Labukas Ride-A-Bike for the Retarded Day. Greenbelt has been a co-sponsor of the event since its inception in 1971, and Labukas has worked on the program all 20 years.

Alfred McMasters was honored with the Hosie D. White Memorial Award as the participant who displayed outstanding achievement during the annual statewide program. McMasters raised $1,335 last year for the 19,000 citizens of Maryland with mental retardation.

Windsor Green

Sheldon Goldberg, Secretary of the Windsor Green Homeowners Association addressed council over the concerns of homeowners in that development that city bonds may be released prior to the completion of work by the builder, specifically the removal of dead trees. City Planner Celia Wilson stated that she was aware of the problem but that it was not covered under the city bond and therefore the bond cannot be evoked to get the situation corrected. She agreed to schedule a site meeting with all parties involved.

Councilmember Ed Putens pointed out that 10 years ago a system was set into place with the city stating that, "when the city was about to release a bond they would have an officer of the board of directors sign off on the bond to insure that nothing was still outstanding."

Lakewood, Stormwater Management

Putens asked Wilson the status of the Lakewood Stormwater Project. Wilson reported that a draft was approved and that a waiver was needed from Prince Georges County of the purchasing requirements. As for the delay, she stated that "the red tape was not here in the city." Putens suggested bringing in Prince Georges Councilmember Richard Castaldi, "to get the situation straightened out." Weidenfeld concurred, stating that "citizens perceive the problem being with the city" not being aware of the problems the city is experiencing with the county. Wilson mentioned that a draft was approved in advance, then the county attorney's office asked that the city comply with county regulations. This is no longer possible, since contracting firms have already been hired, a situation similar to that of Greenbrook Lake, which now forces the city to seek a waiver from county regulations.

Displaced Homemakers

Barbara Lilly addressed the council to discuss the Career Paths Program at the New Ventures Counseling Center in Bowie. She noted that New Ventures' Displaced Homemakers' Program provided career counseling and support groups for displaced homemakers of at least 30 years of age who have lost their primary source of income as a result of separation, divorce, death or disability of a spouse. The program helps the women to identify their marketable skills and teaches strategies for reentering the workforce. New Ventures is located in the YMCA Building at 3501 Moylan Drive in Bowie, their phone number is 464-2622.

Hoyer Initiates Wetlands Action

Congressman Steny Hoyer has requested the State Highway Administration to review a proposal that "would acquire and preserve as wetlands approximately 17 acres" of the Jaeger tract. The proposal calls for the acquisition to be made "through an exchange of wetlands that may be required for highway construction elsewhere in Prince Georges County." The wetlands, surrounded by Greenbelt Park, are on the tract that also houses the Westchester Park development, located off Kenilworth Avenue.

Hoyer also requested that an additional eight acres near Good Luck Road, also surrounded by the Park, be examined "for the possibility of acquisition."

In his March 15 letter to SHA Administrator Hal Kassoff, Hoyer said: "The National Park would greatly appreciate the acquisition of this land to provide a more logical boundary to the Park." He noted that State Senator Leo Green supported the land acquisition "either for Greenbelt Park or for the State as open space."

According to Charles Siegel, Hoyer's press secretary, SHA is currently reviewing the issue.

Roosevelt Graduates

Eleanor Roosevelt High School graduation ceremonies will be held on Tuesday, June 4 at noon in the Capital Centre. May 31 is the last day of classes for Prince Georges county's high school seniors.

Letters to the Editor

Computer Club Starting Here

To the Editor:

The metropolitan area has many excellent and renowned computer clubs and user's groups, and here I am starting one more!

This is what will be special about the Greenbelt Computer Club: it will be local, it will serve all levels of interest and skill, and all age groups, it will have a clubhouse facility with hardware and software, and it will take on technical and educational projects for the benefit of its members and the immediate and wider communities.

That's a pretty broad and general charter — to be all things for all computer people and would-be computer people — but I'm confident that it can be done very successfully indeed!

We are living in the early stages of a social revolution made inevitable by the availability and cheapness of computers. For me, this club can provide an exciting way to participate in the Computer Revolution, and to be involved in having it turn out right, like a nice revolution should.

Therefore, I am issuing an invitation (and a challenge!) to all interested Greenbelters and others to join the Greenbelt Computer Club: please call me at 301-345-8224 up to 11 pm.

Clarification

The Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County will play selections from 2 to 3 p.m. Activities at the American Legion begin at 1 p.m. on Sunday with a Festival and Lawn Carnival featuring games, rides, bingo, entertainment and refreshments. From 7-11 p.m., the Legion will hold a USO Style Canteen Dance.

Other Sunday activities include the opening reception and exhibition of the paintings of Isidore Reuben at the Greenbelt Library from 1-3 p.m. (The paintings will be on display for the month of June.) and the weekly open house of the Greenbelt Museum from 1 to 5 p.m.

Pratt Library Has Night Owl Service

On weeknights, a toll-free call to 1-800-325-NITE will connect people with Baltimore's Enoch Pratt Free Library, where librarians will spend up to five minutes searching through any of over 1,500 selected reference books and files to answer their questions.

The service complements the regular reference services that are provided during the day by the Prince Georges County Memorial Library System. Callers can reach the Night Owl Service Monday through Wednesday, 9 to 11:45 p.m., and Thursday and Friday, 5 to 11:45 p.m.

Carroll Elementary Holds Career Day

by Andrew & Tim Farris

Truck drivers, researchers, a dentist and a veterinarian discussed their jobs with students at John Carroll Elementary School's first Career Day in May. Richard Castaldi, speaking to the sixth graders set the theme—stay in school and work hard. He also mentioned the advantages of becoming involved in a political campaign. He was followed by a navy researcher, who explained how his interest in clean energy led to his research on magma displacement. He also demonstrated lasers. Next, a veterinarian from the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center spoke about her work with the livestock at "The Farm." She answered many questions about animal behavior. The speakers from the defense mapping agency brought maps of the Persian Gulf and slides explaining how the maps were made.

The veterinarian also spoke to the first grade class about "The Farm." Mrs. Murray, a neonatal nurse told about taking care of newborn babies and their mothers. She let us look at her stethoscopes. She told us that one of the most important things about taking care of new babies is keeping them warm enough. A Pepco worker showed us many different types of wire and explained how the bucket on the Pepco trucks worked.

John Del Homme conducts the Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County. Del Homme celebrated his 80th birthday this month.

Birthday Surprise For Band Leader

Friends of Band Director John Del Homme threw a surprise birthday party for him on his 80th birthday. Promptly at 8:15 p.m. on Monday, May 20 at the Greenbelt Youth Center, while Del Homme was conducting the Greenbelt Concert Band, they sang and played "Happy Birthday, John."

Del Homme, a Brooklyn native, studied at the Manhattan School of Music. Later he attended the Peabody Institute of Baltimore before coming to the Washington area in the late 1940's. He became the conductor of the Greenbelt Band in 1968.

Del Homme has played with and conducted a number of chamber music and civic orchestras. Often he was the featured clarinet soloist. His latest appearance in Greenbelt was with a chamber music group that entertained at the retirement of two of Greenbelt's notable younger persons — City Manager James Giese and City Clerk Gudrun Mills at Martin's Crosswinds.

The City of Greenbelt honored Del Homme on his 80th birthday with a proclamation stating, in part, that under Del Homme's leadership the band has made its presence known throughout the Washington Metropolitan Area. The proclamation, signed

Home Repair Scams Blossom in Spring

The Maryland Improvement Contractors Association (MICA), warns consumers not to fall prey to fraudulent contractors who may contact them by telephone or visit at their homes. The association advises homeowners to be particularly on guard against roofing inspection scams which are prevalent in the spring months.

Consumers should know the company they are doing business with, and make sure it is licensed to work in Maryland.

A common scam, said the association, is for a contractor to knock on doors claiming to have excess materials from another job in the neighborhood. Unwitting consumers have paid contractors like these in advance and never see the contractor again.

Maryland Improvement Contractors Association, now in its 29th year has 700 members who are engaged in remodeling, financing and supplying for the industry.

by the Mayor of the City of Greenbelt, Gil Weidenfeld, noted that the band was greatly appreciated by hospital patients, shut-ins, Greenbelters and guests at "Buddy" Attick Park, and at recreation centers throughout Prince Georges County.

Peter Graves Helps City Celebrate Police Week

Emmy-award winning Mission Impossible TV star Peter Graves came to Greenbelt, May 17 and 18 to help celebrate National Police Week. For older Greenbelters, Graves is the younger brother of Matt Dillon (James Arness) of Gunsmoke fame. Peter took his maternal grandfather's name, Graves, on his arrival in Hollywood, years ago.

The National Police Week program is presented annually by the Merchants Association of the Beltway Plaza Mall as part of a nationwide ceremony to honor police officers for service to their communities. According to Pat Valle, publicist for the Merchants Association, the program offers an opportunity to pay respect to those officers killed in the line of duty.

The high point of the Graves visit to Greenbelt was his appearance at the Beltway Plaza on Saturday afternoon, May 18 where he signed autographs. At the ceremony a member of the FBI presented Graves with a S-WAT hat. Not to be outdone, Corporal David Buerger, acting for Chief James Craze who was out of town, presented Graves with a police hat.

The Saturday appearance of Graves at Beltway Plaza included educational displays of police work by the FBI, the State police, and the Prince Georges County police.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld issued a proclamation making that Saturday a "Peter Graves' Day" in Greenbelt. In an exclusive interview, Mayor Weidenfeld stated that Graves was a "charming person and down-to-earth." He stated that Graves was pleased to participate in Greenbelt's celebration of National Police Week.

Valle and Mayor Weidenfeld did everything possible to make the trip memorable for Graves. They greeted him when he arrived at BWI Airport. They introduced Graves at a press conference. They hosted him in the dining room of Greenbelt's own Marriott, and they arranged a meeting for Graves with President George Bush in the Oval Office!

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld greets Peter Graves of Mission Impossible at the National Police Week Celebration at Beltway Plaza.

Children's Theater Performs Upbeat 'Alice In Wonderland'

by Sandy Smith

"Alice in Wonderland" comes to Greenbelt in the June 8 and 9 production by the Greenbelt Arts Center. In an imaginative production with a cast of Greenbelt and area children, the age-old story of Alice and her travels takes a decidedly new twist. Director Ginny Zanner characterizes the play as "somewhere between conventional theater and improv." She says the children are really creative and each has brought an individual style and personality to the classic roles.

Zanner commends the child actors also for their dedication, commenting that all performers were at the latest rehearsal, including those who, on the holiday weekend, jumped right out of the pool to step onto the stage.

Actors and actresses who will appear are Sarah Strickin as Alice; Sarah Wolf, White Rabbit; Melanie Menella, Mad Hatter; Lynn Hull, Caterpillar; Elizabeth Reed, White Queen; Sarah

ah Coakley, Red Queen; Josh Rashkin, Humpty; Sarah Rashkin, Cheshire Cat; Jessica McHale, Doormouse; Aurora Raiten, Frog, and Ryan Richmond as the White Knight. Some children have multiple roles.

In addition to the performers, children have assumed major production tasks. Rena Hull is assistant director and stage manager and Lauren Zambreny, Melissa Coakley and Kateri Hull are assisting in a variety of roles including general understudies and prop persons.

"Alice in Wonderland" is being staged through a grant from the Prince Georges Arts Council. This version of the play was originally staged by The Manhattan Project, where reviewers used words like "Fantastic! Indeed add any hooray words you like." "Exciting . . . An example of how a classic can be made 'new' . . . a wholly satisfactory theatrical experience."

Veteran producer Marie Tosiignant says that she is excited about this production and predicts that it will be as enjoyable for the audience as it has been for the cast and staff.

The play will be performed June 8 and 9, at 2 p.m. at Center School. Tickets will be available at the door or from cast members. One child will be admitted free with every adult, and "family tickets" admitting three family members (two adults and one child or one adult and two children) will be available. For more information contact 441-8770.

Seniors Softball

by Jerry Conway

The Greenbelt Senior Citizens Softball Team is engaged in a 28 game series with Baltimore and Howard County teams. We beat Dundalk last week, but lost to a Howard County team. The team's slogan is "you don't stop playing because you grow old; you grow old because you stop playing."

Al Geiger hit a homerun and a triple in one game and Bill Grennon batted a thousand in several games. Jerry Conway hit two triples and a double in last Monday's game. Others on the team have been hitting doubles and singles. Even though we have executed double plays in some games, our fielding needs to improve. Next week we'll spend Monday and Wednesday practicing fielding and hitting.

Our team is always willing to receive additional players aged 60 and over for the series, and we are open for any man or woman aged 55 plus for other series this year.

Everybody plays, has fun, socializes and exercises on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at Braden Field from 10 a.m. until noon or however long we wish.

"the most original . . . with bold, flat designs."

The most descriptive review in his collection seems to be the Art Digest's July, 1951, review of 57th Street (New York) gallery shows: It says that "there is a fearful symmetry in Isidore Reuben's canvases of flat-patterned still-lives and views (with) vague suggestions of things as various as primitive embroidered samplers. . . . Reuben's work has a distinct personal stamp which defies pigeon-holing."

Reuben has often participated with paintings and drawings in the Greenbelt Labor Day art shows. In 1988 he was awarded first prize in oils for one of his flower paintings. Besides those mentioned, he has had one-man shows and taken part in group shows in Maryland.

The artist's sense of humor helps him bear the vagaries of the artist's life. He says that people viewing his paintings often have strong reactions pro and con, and he relates an incident when he was in a group show in a Georgetown gallery where a wife was urging her husband to purchase a penguin painting and the husband resisted and won. But in another incident in a Bethesda gallery, a man brought along an interior decorator he had hired to redo his place. Over the decorator's insistence that it had no place in the planned redecoration scheme, the man bought one of Reuben's nudes.

He would warn anyone wanting to be an artist to avoid painting pictures that might have "charm, freshness and simplicity" (a quote from a museum curator that turned down the gift of some of Reuben's paintings) or that person won't be able to give the paintings away. Reuben estimates his paintings and drawings number over 1500.

He hadn't intended to have another show of his works but was persuaded by long-time family friend Barbara Simon, who has done the preparation for the exhibition and who will enlist husband Tom, a Greenbelt librarian, to help her hang the works for the Greenbelt show.

The gallery is open Monday through Thursday from 2-8 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 2-5 p.m. It is located on the lower level of the Greenbelt library.

Farmers' Market Opens Nearby

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, MEMORIAL DAY, which started as an informal Civil War ceremony and which was first declared a legal holiday in the State of New York May 30, 1873 has become one of the most solemn observances of our nation; and

WHEREAS, The significance of this day has again been heightened by the events of the past year; and those who are gathering on this day in cemeteries, battlefields, and public places—and here at our War Memorial—are poignantly aware of the loss of life of the young people who served during the Persian Gulf Crisis, while remembering and paying tribute to all our war dead; and

WHEREAS, In honoring our war dead on this day, we must remember that, to give birth to this nation, to maintain this republic, and to give aid to those who would have freedom, was no easy task; we must remember that it called for the sacrifice of many lives; we must remember that it called for hardship and valor in the field of battle; and we must remember that it called for deprivation and sacrifice by the loved ones of these brave men and women; and

WHEREAS, To honor these dead, to honor their memory, and to express our commitment to the virtues they held dear, we must respect and carry out our duties of good citizenship; we must set examples for our children and our fellowmen by obeying the laws of our nation; we must manifest respect for our Flag by practicing the principles for which it stands by supporting good government, by showing love of our country, by fighting discrimination and lawlessness, and by offering succor to those who seek liberty and justice;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gil Weidenfeld, Mayor of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, by authority vested in me by the Council and the citizens of Greenbelt, hereby issue this Proclamation on this

to honor all Americans we memorialize this day; to pay tribute to those men and women of our community who gave their lives in the service of this nation; and to express our respect and our gratitude to those who joined their comrades on foreign soil to aid those who needed the help of this nation in throwing off the yoke of tyranny; and to honor the memory of the young lives cut short in regaining the liberty and freedom of an oppressed nation.

ATTEST: Gudrun H. Mills, CMC
City Clerk

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereinto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, to be affixed this 30th day of May, 1991.

G&O Takes Aerial County Photographs

Prince Georges County has been photographed from high up, according to Bruce Yoder, vice president, Greenhorne & O'Mara, Inc.

G&O recently photographed all of Prince Georges County from the air. The photographs were taken at an altitude and with an accuracy sufficient to produce detailed topographic maps with a scale of 1 inch - 50 feet and having 2 foot contour intervals. Completed in March 1991, these are the most current photographs of the county, clearly showing population centers, transportation systems and growth patterns.

"In addition to the topographic maps, the photographic negatives are easily converted into finished prints showing any project, property or physical feature at any scale and any size, up to 48 inches by 80 inches," said Yoder. Half-tone images are also available for reproduction purposes.

G&O can print a large-area photographic map or isolate the geographic subject to less than an acre. Such aerial photographic maps will be especially useful to many property owners and land developers.

Anyone interested in more information regarding aerial or topographic maps of Prince Georges County should contact Nick Fusco or Tom McElroy at Greenhorne & O'Mara (301-982-2800).

Tailors Set Up Shop in Center
